STANDING COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Addresses on the Various Phases of Church Work.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE

Standing room only was at a premium at Metzerott Hall this morning soon after the opening of the national conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches. The sessions of the conference are to last three days, and delegates from all over the country have been pouring into the city for the last twenty-four hours. It now looks as though the estimate that there would be an attendance of out-of-town delegates reaching 2,000 was not so very far astray.

As a religious gathering, the meeting this morning was rather out of the ordinary in that fully three-fourths of the delegates present are women, and a more attractive or more intellectual looking audience has rarely gathered in this city. tional conference, and little time was lost in getting down to business this morning.

The work of the conference was sultably inaugurated by a communion service, held in Metzerott Hall at 9 o'clock this morning. The service was to have been conducted by Rev. Robert Collyer of New York, but, like Dr. Hale, he was unable to come on to Weshington at this line. Ber come on to Washington at this time. Rev. Charles Carroll Everett, D. The service lasted for an hour, and consisted of the reading of the 13th chapter of Carinthlans and the service on the mount. Corinthians and the sermon on the mount prayer and the singing of several hymns, prayer and the singing of several hymns, together with a few appropriate remarks by Dr. Everett. The hall was well filled when the service began, and it required the aid of a half dozen young ministers to pass the bread and the wine, as almost every one partook of the communion.

Welcome to This City.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mr. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, and also the chairman of the board of trustees of All Souls' Church of this city. Mr. Wright said that the duty of bidding them welcome devolved upon him, and was performed with the utmost pleasure. All Souls' Church is one of the few historic organizations of the denomination in the land. It celebrates this year the seventyfifth year of its history, and Mr. Wright mentioned over the names of a number of well-known American citizens who have been connected with it since its organiza-

It is customary for speakers who are delivering addresses of welcome always to speak of the capital as particularly belonging to the body addressed, but without going quite so far as that he wished to bid them all a hearty welcome, both as Unitarian and American citizens, to this beautiful city.

CARING FOR WAIFS

Twelve Months' Work of the Board of Children's Guardians.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Some Suggestions About the Care of the Feeble-Minded.

CHILDREN OF THE SLUMS

The third annual report of the board of children's guardians was submitted to the Commissioners today by Secretary B. Pickman Mann.

The report says the board began the year with 185 ordinary (l. e., not feeble-minded) wards in charge. It closed the year having 255 ordinary wards. The aggregate number of days that children, other than feeble-minded, were in charge of the board was 80,726, or an average of 221.4 children for every day in the year. The aggregate cost of board and care, clothing and medical attendance of these children, administration and supervision, was $16,306.60. This is at the rate of 20.2 cents per day, or $73.65 per year.

A table is submitted, showing the per capita cost and maintenance of the wards of the board. Last year the average number of wards in boarding homes was 20.64. This year it was 47.74. The per capita cost based on the whole number was cost based on the whole number was $124.10 last year, and $104.23 this year. The rer capite cost of maintenance based on total number of wards and total expenses was $102.72 for 1894 and $73.65 for 1895. Feeble-minded children were maintained $,102 days, at a cost, including bills not paid, of $5,099.14, or 62.94 cents per day, or $229.73 per year.

The expenses for placing and visiting children during the past year were not so great, the report says, as was expected, partly because the amount of office work which had to be done, and which could which had to be done, and which could which had to be done, and which could have been done in large part by a clerk, prevented the agent from having time needed for outside work. The economy in expenditure for maintenance of children which would be secured by making it possible for the agent or agents to find more than the betterment. sible for the agent or agents to find more fice homes, as well as the betterment in the quality of the homes which might be secured, by enabling the agent to seek homes for the children, rather than wait to have applications for children made at the office, both argue in favor of an adequate appropriation for administrative purposes.

Estimates for 1897. The following estimates are made of expenses for board and care of children fo the year 1897: (1) For board and care of an aver age of 160 children at $100. $16,000 00

(2) For medical care of 100 children in boarding homes, at $6 each.

(3) For clothing for 100 children departing for free homes, at $10

(4) For temporary care of children pending investigation or while being transferred from place to place......

taking up the care of the feeble-minded children of the District, found twentyan expenditure of $5,200 for the year 1894. For the year 1895 the expenditures of the board for this purpose were $5,000.14, of which $1,699.28 remain unpaid by reason of the inadequacy of the appropriation at the minded children now at the alms house for whom, the report says, different provisions should be made. "There are," the report continues, "a number of cases under con-sideration by the board in which there is urgent need of asylum care of the chiltation, courage for his duty and the inspiration of progress, we shall strive to give him a happy outlook into the universe of influence and the courage for his duty and the inspiration of progress, we shall strive to give him a happy outlook into the universe of influence and the courage for his duty and the inspiration by the board in which there is urgent need of asylum care of the children. If all new cases are hereafter regardless and the place in view, and would probably be ready to report at the next meeting.

Bakers' Drivers' Assembly last night received nine applications for membership and initiated six new members, and also indorsed by request of a committee from the been made in connection with that for the maintenance of the wards of the board not feeble-minded. The superintendent of charbeen made in connection with that for the maintenance of the wards of the board not feeble-minded. worthy parents. The present appropriation is not sufficient to provide for both tion is not sufficient to provide for both classes for the present year."

The work accomplished by this board during the year includes the following items, which have been made matters of record:

Number of applications received on behalf of children to be taken in charge, 307; number on behalf of whom proceedings were begun in court, 89; number of children committed by courts and provided for by this board, permanent, 110; temporary (not finally committed), 19; total, 129. Number of children provided for temporarily, without authority of the courts, exclusive of those subsequently committed, 22; number of applications received for children to be taken by families, 288; number of new applications plications received for children to be taken by families, 208; number of new applications for children investigated and acted upon, 146; whole number of homes provided, in-cluding transfers and replacements, 127; number of official visits by agent to placed out wards of the board, 194; number of absconders, from homes and institutions, apprehended and returned, 30. prehended and returned, 30.

The number of children committed for vagrancy, incorrigibility and petty offenses this year was less than half as great as last year. The operations of the board naving been limited by lack of funds and by restrictions as to number of employes, it seemed proper and necessary to avoid so far as the proper and necessary to avoid, so far as the matter could be controlled by the board, the class of cases which would soonest and n ciass of cases which would soonest and most urgently demand increased appropriations and the services of additional employes. "It must never be supposed," says the report, "that the children of the slums are waiting and anxious to be benefited. Nothwaiting and anxious to be benefited. Nothing could be farther from the truth. If moral possession of them is to be obtained physical possession must be kept secure. It is believed that had it been possible for the board to keep these children for periods of time determined by their conduct and their ascertained character and previous history, very much might have been accomtory, very much might have been accom-plished with them, but that could not be done. The board had no place to send them where their vagrant impulses could be re-strained until they could be brought to be-lieve in the sincerity of their real friends and into harmony with the efforts made in their behalf.

The Care of Infants. "The wards of the board two years old and under have been dealt with in private families almost exclusively during the past year. The rate paid for their maintenance has been, uniformly, ten dollars per month, where only one child was placed with a nurse, and eighteen dollars where two were placed. Not more than two have been placed under the care of any one person. The rules for the government of nurses, published by the board during last summer, have be enforced with the greatest care, and the reenforced with the greatest care, and the results are sufficiently successful to warrant the employment of the present methods to the exclusion of all others until better shall be done under some new plan yet to be devised. The infants received by the board have come with the sort of history of congenital disease, mal-nutrition, abuse and exposure, which is usually the sole inheritance of the abandoned infant."

IN LABOR CIRCLES. Doings Among the Carpenters-The Workingmen's Library.

Local No. 130 of Carpenters held their usual weekly meeting last night at their hall. No. 627 Massachusetts avenue northwest. The attendance was excellent, and while there was much business transacted, it was of interest only to the members. It was stated that but few of the member are now idle, a condition of affairs which has not heretofore existed for a long time. After the adjournment a leading member of the secrety told a Star reporter that the heretofore much-talked-of proposed consolidation of the four carpenters and join-ers' organizations of this city into two bodies, or perhaps one only, has fallen through. It was found that there were dif-ficulties which could not be surmounted in a manner satisfactory to all concerned. Principal among these was a question in Principal among these was a question in regard to an unpaid assessment of many years ago by one of the bodies, which they still, it is said, refused to liquidate, on the ground that they believed it to be illegal. After repeated conferences between delegates who were appointed to consider the subject of union it was found that they were as far from a satisfactory conclusion. were as far from a satisfactory conclusion as when they first met, and it was decided to abandon the project.

The Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners held an unusually pleasant meeting last night at Costello's Hall, corner of 6th and G streets northwest. A present of Organizer George Cavanaugh report of Organizer George Cavanaugh stated that within the last few weeks he

An open meeting was held after the transaction of routine business, at which addresses were made by several of the members, and also by members of D. A. 66, K. of L. At the last meeting of the Bottlers' Employes' Assembly the following delegates to the Federation of Labor were elected: J. Roberts, H. Carneal, H. J. Kittenger, C. J. Bowen and J. R. Callahan.

CLASH OF AUTHORITY. District Officials and Police Court the Participants. There was a clash between the Police Court and the District government this norning, and a representative of the latter narrowly escaped being fined or being sen to fail. When the case of Messrs. Marshall and Gleason, proprietors of the Oxford Ho-tel, charged with violating the Sunday liquor law, was called, the witnesses failed to respond, and Judge Miller wanted to know the reason they were not in court.

cerned, subpoenas had been sent out for the witnesses. These subpoenas were sent to police headquarters, from where, during to police headquarters, from where, during the usual course of events, they should have been sent to the first police station, and by the police returned to court, whether they had been served or not.

Lieut. Amiss and other officers of the precinct were in court, and the judge was informed that the court writs had never teached there.

Judge Miller said he was getting sick and tired of this trouble about subpoenas, and said that if there was any trouble in the future he would impose a severe penalty on some policeman.

The court directed the issuance of a subpoena for the telephone operator on duty

After further reviewing the progress of thirty years, Mr. Fatchelor said:
